Uncle Sam Says

Graduation days are over and the hopes of those leaving school for the last time are flying high. There is one bit of advice your Uncle Sam wants you graduates to remember, and that is—"the only money you'll ever have is the money you are saving right now. ONLY way to save." And one of the best ways to do it is to say U. S. Savings Bonds through your company's Payroll Savings Plan. These Bonds are backed by the full resources of the Government and will return you $4 for every $3 in ten years later.

IN MEMORIAM:

In memory of our dear ... and husband, Richard E. ... who departed his life, ... ago, August 24, 1949.
We have a husband and daddy in glory,
Whom our hearts doth long to ...
How we love the precious memory,
When with us he used to be.

We think of him in silence,
No eye may see us weep,
But many silent tears are shed,
While others are asleep.

The flowers we place upon ... grave may wither and decay,
But love for him who sleeps beneath will never fade away.

What would we give his hand to clasp,
His patient face to see,
To hear his voice, to see him smile
As in the days that used to be.

But some sweet day we will meet again,
Beyond the toil and strife,
And clasp each other hand in hand
In heaven, that happy life.

And on some glad morning when the midst has rolled away,
We shall see our dad and ... in the love of endless day.
—Sadly missed by wife and children,
Mrs. R. H. Baber and family.

WILLIAM DILLARD

We regret to hear of the death of "Uncle" William Dillard, a respected Negro citizen of the community. He passed away yesterday at the age of 75. He was a retired N & W Railway employee.

Cultivator Needed In Control of Weeds

Chemical sprays are not yet ready to replace the cultivator in controlling weeds, according to Dr. J. C. Willard, agronomist in the college of agriculture at Ohio University.

"No chemicals so far available for use in crops will kill all weeds," Dr. Willard said. "If we use chemicals without cultivation to remove the weeds left after spraying, it will be only a short time before we have fields which are as weedy as before, but the weeds will be different and of kinds harder to kill."

Introduction of new chemicals every year makes spraying more of a specialist's job, he pointed out, cautioning farmers to beware of the fly-by-night operator.

Sleeping Sickness Menace To Livestock Is Recounted

Each summer and fall livestock owners are warned of the toll which may be taken of animals by sleeping sickness. Losses from this disease showed a startling increase in 1947 and 1948, and figures for the past year are expected to show but little decline when finally compiled.

The virus of the disease may have "wintered over" with more virulence and in more places.

Superphosphate Will Help Add to Manure Properties

Adding superphosphate to manure not only increases its plant food balance, but helps it hold valuable nitrogen that otherwise might be lost, according to Prof C. J. Chapman, University of Wisconsin agronomist. He says it should be added before the manure is spread on the field.

The superphosphate can be put in the spreader at the rate of 20 to 25 pounds per load.

Bids will be sought for a new bridge at Elon.

Polio incidence declines for the week.
